

CLASS OF . . .

New College Pontefract recently sent us a copy of their “Celebrating Success 2013” brochure showing some of their students who completed their A Levels this year. Included in this booklet were two ex-Crofton Pupils, Rachel Olley and Andrew Cook, who both left Crofton in 2011.

We are very proud of all our pupils so it’s great to hear what ex-pupil are up to. As a result of this we are currently writing to all our Class of 2011 pupils asking what they are up to and would love to hear from you whatever you’re doing; wherever you are!

For now we congratulate both Andrew and Rachel on their A Level Success and wish them the very best for their future university studies and beyond.

We also recently came across another ex-pupil, Liam Duffy (Class of 2007), in Mosaic Magazine (September Issues 79). In November last year Liam opened his own restaurant, Iris, in Wakefield having always wanted to be a chef.

We will bring you news of other pupils as we begin to gather it and if you know someone who left Crofton and you think we should celebrate their achievements then please let us know: andrea.hewson@croftonacademy.org.uk.

Rachel Olley
Crofton High School

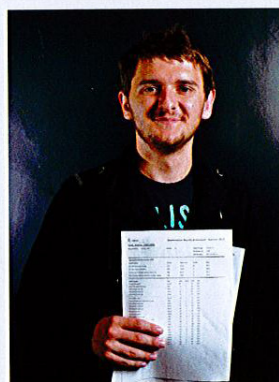

“I am really happy with my final exam results!!!”

University destination:

Nottingham Vet School

Results obtained:

Chemistry-A*, Biology-A* and Maths-A

Andrew Cook
Crofton High School

“A great college with amazing teachers.”

University destination:

Nottingham University

Results obtained:

Maths-A, Further Maths-A, Accounting A* and Economics-A